READ AT YOUR OWN RISK!

by Grant Thiesson (and me, Sidney)

Hi there, friends! (He means all of you, the optimist.) Another paper has just been published, hot off the presses. (Oh boy, will you get that! They're done on a duplicator and he knows it.) I hope you don't mind my little pet gnat, Sidney. He keeps making parenthetical remarks when I'm not looking. Thinks he's an editor's editor. (And I am, too!) Excuse me a moment. He just stepped into my inkwell. While I clean him off, read this letter which was sent to me.

Dear Grant,

We're now entering our last term and I thought I should bring your attention to some of the things that have occurred, are in the process of occurring, or are still in the future. All these events involve you, so take note!

Last month we had our novelty bonspiel (of which many of us were painfully aware!) This was carried off with apparent ease, and I think several people deserve our thanks for handling it so ably. First there is the Sports Committee under David Wiebe, Grade XI President. The sponsors were Mr. Schmidt and Mr. Enns. Thanks for your efficient work. Only you know what a headache it was! Then let's not forget our Social Committee, under Jolene Toews, who ran the lunch counter in the Curling Rink for three Saturday bonspiels to help boost the contents of the Council treasury. Thanks, Jo and girls.

Right now the "Name the New Collegiate Contest" is going on. The Council is sponsoring this, but a prize has not been decided on yet. Here's our chance to name our own school.

You all know we're trying to sell yearbooks. We must sell at least 500. We can't carry another deficit and leave it for next year. This would be unfair to the new Council. You'd be surprised at how easy it is to sell the book. Take your questions to Margaret Loewen, XII, or to Marlene Sawatsky, X. Your room representatives should also be able to help you. Here's a chance for you to support your school.

We're looking forward to our annual magazine drive. This should get under way about the fifteenth, if not sooner. This drive will be explained in full by the Curtis representative who should be out within a few days.

The Acettes and Aces will be holding an invitational tournament on March twentieth which we hope you will attend. We expect some exciting games.

Then there is the play which Mr. Schmidt and his cast are working on. This year the drama is Lost Horizon. The dates for this production have been tentatively set for March 25 and 26. Let's all start promoting sales right now so that it will be a sellout.

On behalf of the student council,

Dorothy Howe

I finally got him cleaned off. Never in my life have I seen an inkier gnat. (Jealousy will get you nowhere.) Quiet, Sidney! Don't interrupt me when I'm working. I have to reply to this letter. (Why? You won't say anything worth saying anyway.) You know, I think he's right. See you in three weeks. Say good-bye, Sidney. (Good-bye.)

DRAW A GNAT CONTEST: Draw Nat Gnat (or Sidney, as he prefers to be called, after his father.) The best entries will be published in a special insert in our next paper. All entries should be handed in to Caroline Loewen, Grade XA. Entries close March 24, 1965.

B-BALL cont.

John Zacharias	35 points	Jayne Friesen	16 points
Rudi Epp	35	Dorothy Howe	5
Rick Janzen	11	Helen Guenther	4
Clarence Hildebrand	2	Rita Loewen	2
Allan Buhr	2	Pat Buhr	1
Terry Sawatzky	2

Although the boys lost all their League games they finished the season by taking first place in the Morden tournament on March 6. They beat Carman 41-22, and Morden by a score of 50 to 36. The Altona girls finished in first place in the Eastern Division of Zone 4, but the second-place Lowe Farm team beat them by three points in a two-game total-point playoff series. The girls won the consolation championship in the Steinbach tournament on January 23. They lost to Winkler and beat Steinbach.

THE YEARBOOK COMMITTEE

by Betty Friesen.

The yearbook committee consists of Mr. H. Pauls, faculty sponsor, Betty Friesen, convenor, Elizabeth Kehler, editor, and Grace Braun.

Earlier this year, school pictures were taken. Pictures of the students have been collected, and a sample yearbook has been planned. However, in order to be able to continue and complete the work of the yearbook, students will have to start selling orders. It was expected that each student should be able to sell at least three or four yearbooks. Either the selling ability of our students was overestimated, or the students are not interested in having a yearbook. In the three weeks we have had to sell yearbooks, only about one-third of our quota (500) has been reached! The deadline for sales of yearbooks has been set for Monday, March 15. This gives students one more weekend to sell yearbooks. So, if you students expect to have a yearbook this year, get busy and start selling.
